Resolutions From

Mrs. Ann Uzzell's Fifth Grade.

Tommy Petty: I resolve not to throw rocks and not to break windows. I have been throwing rocks for a year.

Gene Mullnix: I resolve not to talk in school.

Bonny Lynn Redhead: I resolve to obey the Girl Scout Laws.

Priscilla Clark: I resolve to get up in the morning so I can practice at 8:00 o'clock.

Richard Platte: I resolve not to read so much in poor light.

Carole Goodrich: I resolve not to go to so many shows.

Renee Vallon: I resolve not to crab at my sister.

Jeanne Fratessa: I resolve to do my homework before I ride my bike.

Patricia Doolittle: I resolve to keep my table cleared.

Diane Tootelian: I resolve to do my best work at home and school.

Gary Appleton: I resolve not to run my train at full speed around the curves.

Eugene Tartaglino: I resolve to do my homework before I go out to play.

Marvin Coit: I resolve to brush my teeth night and morning.

George Larson: I resolve to be a better citizen.

Gwen Balazs: I resolve to try to keep up with my school work.

Georgiana Rawlings: I resolve to catch up with my class in arithmetic.

Jimmy Hallett: I resolve not to talk in school.

Shirley DeAmaral: I resolve to do the dishes every morning before I come to school.

Susan Harney: I resolve to learn to read better.

Craig Chapman: I resolve always to read in good light.

Thomas Bunn: I resolve not to fight with my boy friend.

Sondra: I resolve to try to do better in school.

Connie Nielsen: I resolve to make my bed every morning.

Karen Johnson: I resolve to keep my closet clean.

I congratulate Tommy Petty, Gene Mullnix and Company. That is one of the finest list of resolutions I have ever seen and you should see the list I draw up for myself every New Year's. Of course, there's a difference. The Fifth Graders will keep theirs, whereas I, who have been living considerably longer and have had more practice in breaking New Year's resolutions, will not have so much success. Tommy Petty,

Why are we talking about resolutions three weeks after New Year's? Because this choice list arrived at my desk yesterday; because if you overlooked making your resolutions New Year's Eve, there's still time; and if you didn't make any resolutions New Year's because you couldn't think up any good ones, here is a first rate selection to choose from. If I didn't have such a bunch of my own, I'd like to take on Gary Appleton's: "I resolve not to run my train at full speed around the curves."

School Board Drops $100,000 Club House From Building Schedule; Swimming Pool Still In Plans

Swimming pool, yes; but club house and recreation center, no. In the face of dwindling resources the school board had to make a difficult decision Tuesday night, and arrived at the only one possible. No vote was taken, but the informal agreement was unanimous.

Since the bond election of only a year ago, costs have increased so that the $450,000 voted on January 28 will not cover items of the plan presented to the people at that time. Number one on the list is the Dolores Street School, which is needed to relieve pressure on Sunset. It was estimated that $95,000 would cover the cost of the completed unit. Now the board believes that $150,000 will be needed. Corresponding increases in other items of the plan make the construction of a $100,000 recreation building on the high school grounds impractical, board members say.

Superintendent Stuart Mitchell summed up the situation with the comment, "We can't have everything. The swimming pool is within our grasp, but there just isn't money for the club house." Peter Ferrante, board member, said that in talking to students and adults around town the reaction had been unanimously in favor of the swimming pool if both couldn't be had. Mitchell pointed out that the barbecue pit that was to be built outdoors in an angle of the club house could be built in a sheltered patio by the swimming pool; coke and hamburger bar could also be set up there. As for space for dancing and a reading room, "We have the cafeteria for dances; and the school library for a reading room."

In the legal section of the Pine Cone is an invitation to submit bids on construction of locker rooms for the swimming pool and a music building at the high school. Mitchell points out that the asking for bids does not mean that these units will be built right away. The purpose of the board members is to get some estimate of what those units will cost so that they will know how much they have left for other needed improvements. The Dolores Street School has priority over all other building activities and within a few weeks bids will be asked for its construction.

The music building, consisting of practice rooms, will stand at one end of the site for the auditorium. It will be so designed that when

Carmel Highlands Resident Answers Zenas L. Potter's Article With Clarence Streit's Union Now

BY JANE BLUM

In answer to an article by Zenas Potter in the Pine Cone of January 9 in which he cites various ideas for adapting our nation's foreign policies to new conditions, I should like to point out that he has overlooked the plan proposed by Clarence Streit in Union Now, advocated by Rev. A. Powell Davies in his talks on the Peninsula in 1947, promoted by atomic scientist Harold C. Urey in Time for Union of the Free, and which now attains national publicity throughout the country as the result of an article by former Justice Owen J. Roberts, in the New York Times of January 2.

Mr. Roberts, former Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, proposes that the United States organize a transatlantic union of the democracies in a program for peace and recovery. In an article in the January issue of Freedom & Union Mr. Roberts says the U. S. should:

"1. Immediately convoke a Federal convention of the democracies to work out a plan to achieve recovery and peace by federating them in a transatlantic union.

"2. Extend aid to western Europe for the coming fiscal year as provided in present (ERP) plans, while making it clear that this is aimed at gaining the time needed to achieve union."

Congress, Mr. Roberts writes, must work out a sound recovery program by April. Then he inquires if the "huge problem" does not require more consideration than that. It cannot, he holds, be solved either by a "purely European meeting in Paris, or by fiat of Congress alone." It can be done "only by a transatlantic convention representing all the democracies involved."

Quoting a motto "every time you lend, you lose a friend," Mr. Roberts sees a grave psychological danger to freedom and peace in the European Recovery Program if unaccompanied by transatlantic federation. He finds that western Europe, far from being "bankrupt" is actually "rich in free men," and these are "the best assets" we have outside of the U. S.

"Union puts all recovery efforts within the union on a citizen-to-citizen or a citizen-to-union to citizen basis. Nationalism leaves such recovery efforts on a state-to-state or nation-to-nation basis. The psychology of the two methods is contradictory. The common citizenship which is the essence of Federal Union renders the economic problem of every citizen or group of citizens the common problem of all."

General Eisenhower told the National Press Club November 18, "The business of preventing or postponing this next war of which we speak is so important that it deserves the 24-hour-a-day service of every man who has an idea on it." Clarence Streit's Union Now has that kind of idea in it. Federal Union, Inc. is a non-profit membership association working to educate the public in the basic principles of the U. S. Constitution with a view to advancing individual freedom, prosperity and peace by uniting the civil liberty democracies now in a Federal Union of the Free as the nucleus within the United Nations of an eventual world government of, by and for the people.

Free Trees For All; Please Ask, F. Godwin Urges

Do you want a tree for free? Without installation cost? Without effort or expense on your part to keep up and maintain? A beautiful young pine in front of your house that will grow tall and handsome, enhancing the attractiveness of your neighborhood and contributing to the magnificent framework of green that forms Carmel's sky line? Squirrels will chase each other around its trunk, with twitch of plume tails and confidential chirrups; blue jays and robins will swoop down out of its upper branches in flashing arcs of red and blue. High up the pigmy nuthatches will dart about among the needles in their short-tailed flight, keeping constantly in touch with each other through their busy, sweet-voiced chit-chat.

Carmel Martin Protects Oak In Gold Rush

Sold! You want a free tree? Telephone William Askew, Street Superintendent, 1000-J; or City Clerk Peter Mawdsley, 110; or Planning Commission Chairman P. A. McCreery, 142-W, and the street department will bring you a tree, plant it where you say, water it and take care of it.

All you have to do is say you want it. There your part of the bargain ends. There is no contract to sign. No currency exchanged. No labor attached.

Why this peculiar, sudden, unexplained generosity on the part of the City of Carmel?

Mayor Fred Godwin took a ride around town with Superintendent William Askew Monday and came back looking very grave. In the past two weeks, the street department has had to fell and remove 40 city trees in various parts of town because they were dead or dying. Forty more will have to be removed. The mayor thinks the drought has something to do with the widespread fatality. The street superintendent doesn't know. Monterey Pine is a short-lived tree in any case, he says. Whatever the

Symphony's Next Concert February 25 At Sunset School

Somewhat decimated by the effects of Virus X, the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra resumed its rehearsals at the Carmel High School music room last week. The two conductors, Messrs. Jorell McCann and Clifford Anderson are preparing for the next concert which is to be held at the Sunset Auditorium in Carmel on February 25.

The program for the forthcoming concert contains several well-known selections, and an original work by Mr. McCann. For this latter selection, Mr. McCann is anxious to obtain a tuba player. Additional players in all branches of the orchestra are encouraged to appear at the Monday evening rehearsals to try out for the orchestra. All players receive compensation for transportation costs.

At a recent meeting of the Board of Directors of the Symphony Association, held at Hollow Hills Farm, Mr. Noel Sullivan was host to the members of the Board. The directors elected Dr. John Gratiot to fill a vacancy on the board. The Association was pleased to learn that a life membership had been

Carmel Valley Fire Now Under Control

Last Tuesday a brush fire was started on the Frank Halton Ranch in Carmel Valley by Kenneth Martin of Castroville and Donald Davies of Salinas, to clear the rangeland they were leasing. The fire gradually spread to the property of T. A. Work and by noon Wednesday, to the property of the Carmel Realty Company. The State Division of Forestry dispatched 12 men to get it under control. More than 350 acres were burned before the men were able to get a line around it.

PADRE CAGERS AT KC TONITE

GILROY HERE SATURDAY
A busy week end of basketball is in store for the Carmel High School lightweight and varsity basketball teams. Tonight they travel to King City to tangle with the dangerous Mustangs. The games at King City are highly important to both the lightweights and varsity as a win will keep them in the running for the flag, while a defeat will practically eliminate them from contention. In their first meeting, the Padres handed the Mustangs a double licking, but the valley boys have improved tremendously since the first meeting and are favored to take the locals.

Tomorrow night Gilroy High School will provide the opposition for the Padre teams. Gilroy is in the powerful Santa Clara Valley League and should be capable of giving the Padres an interesting evening. The lightweight game will start at 7:00 and the varsity fray will get underway about 8:30.

PADRES DROP TWIN-BILL TO PACIFIC GROVE BREAKERS

Carmel High School's hopes for a pair of basketball championships took a noticeable nose dive last Friday night when the arch rival Pacific Grove Breakers upset them in both the lightweight and varsity games. The Padre Babes were nosed out, 25 to 22, while their big brothers took a 23-16 lacing. The Pacific Grove lights, led by Meneses and Hastey, got off winging from the opening whistle and stayed in front for the whole game. The little Padres made a fight of it all the way, but it wasn't their night to triumph. Too many near misses spelled the downfall of the local midgets. Time after time the casaba would enter the basket and spin out for just a close try. Walter Frey paced the Carmel Babes in the scoring department, but he had lots of help from Gene Vandervort. Fine defensive play by Pat Dormody and Steve Whitaker served to keep the score to respectable proportions.

The Padre varsity chose to put on their poorest performance of the current season before the largest crowd to ever witness a basketball game in Carmel. To say they had a bad night is putting it mildly. Their shots missed the backboard completely, passes had no apparent direction, and the defense was hobbled to the floor. It was fortunate that Pacific Grove had nearly as bad a night, or the score would have been disgraceful. Bob Toole, peerless All-CCAL guard, was the big difference in the two teams. Bob ran the Breakers heavies like a smart quarterback and gave the impression that he was toying with grammar school kids. Jim Thomas, Breaker forward, with 8 points, was high point man for the evening. Owen Greenan led the Carmel scorers with 6 counters, while Phil Wertenengel picked up 2 field goals for 4 digits. Things won't be any easier for the Padres this week when they journey to King City to do battle with the rampaging Mustangs. King City dropped Pacific Grove for a double loss in their initial meeting, and are gunning for Carmel on their home floor.

ROOFERS MAINTAIN FAST PACE IN CAGE LEAGUE

The classy Frost Roofer basketball squad breezed through another week of Village League play without having their hair mussed. They took the measure of the D & J Tailors by a lopsided 49-34 count. 17 points by Sewell and 9 by Butler were too much for the tailors to overcome. Darling, sharp-shooting D & J forward, contributed 17 markers for the losers, but didn't have enough help to seriously threaten the league leaders. Ricketts & Freeman drew a bye last week, but their 3-1 record was good enough to hold them in second place. When the Roofers and the Sporting Goods men tangle there should be some first class basketball produced. The sports shop is sparked by that court magician, Ky Miyamoto, who can nearly make a basketball talk.

Bill McKenzie, former Carmel High School star, led the Del Monte Kennels to a 41-28 victory over the Carmel Boys' Club. McKenzie connected for 12 counters and turned in an outstanding floor game. Morrison, Salinas High School ace, gave McKenzie able support by taking 5 field goals. Richard Mulholland, with 10, and Max Hodges, with 5, led the Boys' Club scorers.

WHEN THE SAND SETTLED

The Bing Crosby Invitational Pro-Amateur Golf Tournament began Friday, January 9, at the Cypress Point Club, moved to the Country Club on Saturday and concluded at Pebble Beach Sunday.

The biggest names in golf, plus many Hollywood movie-stars, brought approximately ten thousand spectators to the links, a record gallery for the Monterey Peninsula.

Huge crowds rooted for and followed the host of colorful personalities, including: Host Bing Crosby, Dennis O'Keefe, Randolph Scott, John Hodiak, Edgar Kennedy of the movies; Freeman Gosden, portrayer of Amos in the Amos and Andy radio program; Ben Hogan, Sam Snead, Bobby Locke, Jim Ferrier, Jimmy Thompson, Jimmy Demaret, Toney Pennington, Lawson Little, Lloyd Mangrum, Craig Wood, Lew Worsham, Ellsworth Vines, Harold Sampson, Norman Von Nida, Ed "Porky" Oliver, "Dutch" Harrison, George Fazio, Vic Ghezzi, Johnny Bulla and other outstanding money-winning "name" golfers.

Everyone had a glorious time watching these fabulous characters, but when the divots and sand settled after the first day, it was an unknown pair who lead the pack—that is, unknown to most of the gallery. Not to the golfing world. Amateur T. Sufferin Tailor of New York and professional Stan Leonard of Vancouver turned in a best ball of seven under par, 65, to head the field. Among those tied for second place at 67 were Bobby Locke and Frank Stranahan; Chandler Harper and Warner Keeley; Johnny Dawson and Ben Hogan.

At the Country Club and Pebble Beach, Hogan and Dawson really went to work to earn a total of 197 for the three rounds and edge out Harper and Keeley, 199, and Locke and Stranahan, 199, thus winning the Pro-Amateur prizes. Tailor and Leonard slipped to fourth place.

Leading the singles contest for $2,000 after the first day were Lloyd Mangrum, Bill Fritz, and George Fazio, all scoring 70. However, Mangrum romped away from his adversaries during the next two rounds, his 205 easily vanquishing his nearest rivals, Stan Leonard, 210, Ben Hogan, 211, and Bobby Locke, 212. —F. Shea.

LEGION DRUBS STOLTE IN SUNDAY BASEBALL

It's getting to be a habit. With monotonous regularity, the potent Carmel Legion baseball team continues to knock off their opponents. Last Sunday was no exception, as Giles and Childers coached their high powered juggernaut to an 8-0 victory over the Stolte Builders. Loaded with two ace pitchers, Gordy Miyamoto and Vic Marconi, Manager Giles decided to send the veteran Marconi against the construction gang. All Marconi did was to pitch 6 innings of no-hit ball. In the last frame, the builders tagged him for a brace of blows but were unable to dent the platter.

The Salinas Junior College boys, representing the Mission Bakery, outlasted the Pacific Grove Babes to garner a 5 to 3 verdict. Fireball hurling by Connor kept the Babes loose at the plate and inept in the base hit department. Roy Hastey pitched creditable ball for Pacific Grove but miserable support in the field practically presented the game to the collegians.

Next Sunday winds up the regular league schedule for the Peninsula Winter League, and, if the Legion win their game, they will have undisputed claim to the 1948 Winter League Championship.

WARDEN SCHOOL AT AISLOMAR

Thirty-five wardens will attend the second annual warden's school of the California Division of Fish and Game at Asilomar, January 19 to February 27.

The six weeks' course will include instruction in hunting and fishing laws, conservation, juvenile delinquency, stream pollution, legal procedure, airplane and radio operation.

Assistant Chief H. C. Jackson of Los Angeles is in charge. Sessions will run for eight hours a day, five days a week and will extend to field work and motion picture instruction.

Under PTA sponsorship and with the guidance of Mrs. Julian von Meier, children and parents gave a joint art exhibit at the downstairs auditorium of the Sunset School. The exhibit was displayed on Tuesday afternoon, January 13, and was so arranged that the work of each child was placed next to that of his or her parent in a dual family display. Nancy Lofton showed a lively watercolor next to one of her father's oils. Nicky Vertin exhibited a paper collage beside an oil of Mildred Vertin. Danny Brosnan hung a large bee in water color above the beautiful pottery plates made by his mother, Mrs. Tom Brosnan; and Gordon Parker, whose father, Dr. Ridgley G. Parker is known for his sculpture, showed a wonderful, almost surrealist, animal with a green dot for a face. It was quite a display of talent and makes us wonder if maybe genius is hereditary after all, and not that tired cliché of environment plus hard work. —Zoe.

Date Set For Eleventh Annual Bach Festival

Inquiries are already beginning to reach Dene Denny and Hazel Watrous, founders and directors of the Carmel Bach Festival, as to the date of the 1948 event. July 19 to 25 have been chosen for the dates. Eleventh Annual Bach Festival in the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, announce Miss Denny and Miss Watrous, with Gastone Usigli again conducting.

Rehearsals of the Bach Festival Chorus have already begun, and are being held regularly on Tuesday evenings at seven-thirty o'clock in the Kindergarten Room of the Sunset School, under the auspices of the Carmel School of Adult Education. Mr. Usigli comes down on alternate Tuesdays, and Angie Machado, assistant choral conductor, carries on the rehearsals in between.

For a village the size of Carmel to have produced a Festival which has achieved national prominence is a matter of fervid personal pride to every individual of the community. To be a member of the Chorus and sing the out-pouring, worshipping stanzas of the B Minor Mass is an experience that none who has experienced it can ever forget.

Sopranos, altos, tenors and basses are still needed for the 1948 Chorus. Singers are urged to come in and participate in the rehearsals which are now seriously and intensively preparing the programs for next July.

Entrants should report at the Kindergarten Room, Sunset School, next Tuesday evening, using the Tenth Street entrance as the most convenient.

Hi Chatter

By PEGGY RIKER

Wholehearted electioneering began this week as petitions were circulated and candidates boosted by their friends. All preliminary activities will culminate Friday in a general assembly at which time those running for student body offices will be introduced, those contending for the presidency giving short speeches on their qualifications and goals. Following the meeting, Mrs. A. B. Seccombe, wife of the Rector of All Saints' Church, will provide a musical program on the harp.

Carrying out their excellent work in adopting a destitute Dutch School near Rotterdam, the Girls' League, guided by its President Jan Mastin, presented a movie program which was enjoyed by all last Wednesday. The proceeds will enable the Girls' League to send further aid in the way of school supplies to their adopted school. Too much can't be said in praise of this project — Carmel High School's small contribution to the European rehabilitation program.

It looks like the sophomores are out to capture the speedball championship this year, provided the seniors don't stage a comeback. Having defeated the freshmen and senior teams, the sophomores have proved their skill and teamwork to a marked degree. The seniors defeated the juniors, leaving the race wide open, with the final round coming up sometime next week.

With Spring in the air, the two biology classes, under the guidance of Miss Larson ventured off on a field trip to visit the Marine Museum in Pacific Grove Thursday. They found the excursion most interesting and are looking forward to further trips.

Having been defeated for the first time in the current season, the Carmel Padres will recover this week end with two league games. Friday night the Carmel team faces King City there, while Saturday Gilroy travels to meet the Padres on our own court.

Fifty would-be skiers are praying for snow this week and looking longingly toward Yosemite. The supervised ski trip planned for this week end will have to be called off if heavy snowfall isn't reported soon. Providing conditions are good, the party will leave after 4th period Friday for three days of skiing, skating, and just plain fun—so good luck and no broken bones!

Robert Raymond

Robert Raymond, 67, died at the Community Hospital early Sunday morning after sustaining a stroke the previous Thursday. A native of East Weymouth, Massachusetts, he was the retired manager of the Bank of China in New York and had come to Carmel two months ago in order to build a home in Hatton Fields. He is survived by his wife, Susie M. Raymond, and by two daughters, Mrs. Helen R. Lambert of Carmel, and Mrs. Louise R. Slott who is at present visiting here.

Service was held Tuesday afternoon at the T. A. Dorney Chapel, the Rev. K. Fillmore Gray officiating, and burial took place in the Monterey City Cemetery.

James Cooksley

James L. Cooksley, 72, died Monday night at his home on Dolores Street after suffering from a heart ailment for about a month. A native of Brighton, England, he came to this country at the turn of the century and settled in Carmel with his wife eight years ago, when they established the Hobnob Restaurant at Dolores and Seventh. He is survived by his wife, Alice Cooksley, and by three nieces who live in Southern California.

Service will be held at the T. A. Dorney Chapel tomorrow morning at eleven o'clock, the Rev. A. B. Seccombe officiating, and interment will take place in the Watsonville Columbarium.

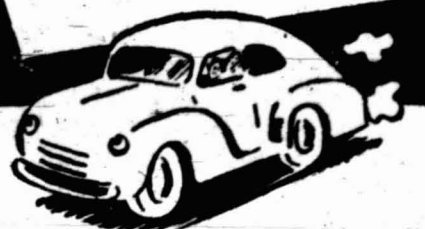

CRAFTS CLASS

The new Crafts Class will start next Tuesday, January 20, at the Monterey Adult School. The relatively new process of textile painting will be the first unit studied and will be followed by units in plastics, leather works and other handicrafts. The instructor will be Clara Lucille Shattuck of Carmel, a graduate of the Art Institute of the University of Chicago. Classes held from 7:30 to 10:00 p. m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays at Monterey High School, south end of Larkin Street.

G.O.P. MEETING

The Monterey Peninsula Republican Women will hold their next meeting at 2 p. m. February 10 in the Hotel San Carlos Sky Room. Mrs. Arthur Smiley in charge of arrangements. An informative program has been planned and all Republican women and their friends are invited to attend.

Carmel Unincorp. Launches Drive For Memberships

At a meeting of the officials of Carmel Unincorporated held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Van Meter on The Point, Major General E. G. Chapman, president appointed Stanley Pedler chairman, and Dr. Van Meter vice chairman, of a committee on zoning ordinance.

Dr. Van Meter reported that there were 24 paid members at present and the president was asked to appoint a committee in charge of a drive for new members among property owners outside the city limits of Carmel. Mrs. Joseph Stilwell, secretary and treasurer, is accepting applications for membership.

Charles Foster

Charles Harry H. Foster, 70, died at his home on Torres near Fourth Wednesday afternoon, having lived in Carmel for the past 20 years. He was a Spanish American War veteran, a native of Berrian County, Michigan, the son of the late Hattie Pettiford of Carmel.

He is survived by his wife, Maggie Foster of Carmel, by three sons, John H. Foster of Oakland, Durell Foster and Kenneth Foster of San Francisco; and by two daughters, Mrs. Muriel Clark of Carmel and Mrs. Thena Bailey of San Francisco.

Services are being held this morning at 10:30 at Paul's Mortuary in Pacific Grove, and interment will take place at El Carmelo cemetery.

Army Nurse Married

At the Church of the Wayfarer, Sunday, January 9, the romance of Charles A. Nellen of Newman, and Veronica M. Fritz of Mellen, Wisconsin, was completed in a marriage ceremony performed by Dr. K. Fillmore Gray. Surprising the groom almost out of his marriage vows was the exquisite white lace and marquisette gown with long veil that the bride wore down the aisle, for she had planned to be married in a simple tailored suit. Mrs. Arthur Drummond, matron of honor and sister of the groom, was gown in long full sleeved pale pink chiffon.

Miss Fritz was an army nurse during the war, worked all over Europe, and met Mr. Nellen when she was on duty at Newman. After the wedding, a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Drummond in Pacific Grove; a late buffet luncheon was served in the dining room decorated with silver and white candles and white flowers, and the guests gathered around a punch bowl in a living room filled with pale pink stock and chrysanthemums. The young couple will make their home in Newman.

The Editor,
The Pine Cone
Dear Madam:

I should like to make comment on an issue which has lately received the attention of this column.

When I left the Merchant Marine, I came back to Carmel with the desire to make my home here, and in search of an income in this closely guarded community.

Before purchasing property, I went to the lengths of engaging an attorney to make certain that the property in question could be legally operated for the purposes for which it was built, and for which building permits were granted in the first place. My attorney received the personal assurance of the building inspector that the plans I had for rental of the property were quite permissible.

It wasn't long, however, before I received a summons from the city attorney who accused me of violating the ordinances. I denied that I had, and received the reply that since he had written the ordinance, he ought to know. Thus squelched, I inquired which particular ordinance I was supposed to be violating. He replied that I was renting my property transient in a residential zone, and the council had the discretion to decide what was transient; namely, one week. I pointed out that if such was the case, they were certainly at odds with the published ordinance that defined "transient" as forty-eight hours or less. The fact that such a definition was in existence, he apparently had not been aware of.

Since he was forced to admit that I was in the clear, I asked assurance that nothing would be done to alter that situation. He personally assured me that the council had never passed a retroactive ordinance, felt certain that they would not do so as it would be too discriminatory, and in any case would most certainly give everyone involved a year's prior notice.

Since then, the definition of the term, "transient", has been changed to mean any occupancy less than seven days which will certainly cripple many landlords who have designed their property to accommodate the throngs of week-end honeymoon, and holiday crowds that contribute a great deal to the life-blood of Carmel, and for which there is always a great shortage of accommodations.

Furthermore, by unanimous vote this new amendment has been made retroactive to a date almost twenty years back. This, despite the fact that in private conversations with two of the councilmen and the city attorney previous to the meeting stated that they were inclined to agree with me that making the new interpretation retroactive would work an undue hardship on many whose rights should be protected.

The intention of this retroactive measure is so obvious as to make the whole thing very partial and discriminatory; thereby, the old established, and grossly commercialized establishments situated in the residential zones are protected in regard to transient rentals in the same manner they are protected in respect to advertising signs.

Certainly if something is deemed objectionable, it should be just as objectionable whether it has been in existence since 1929 or 1946.

Carmel, in the opinion of a newcomer, is a dangerous place in which to invest, for if the council has the arbitrary power to change its definitions and ordinances from one week to the next and make them retroactive with no regard for the welfare of those who may have invested their fortunes in complete accordance with the existing city ordinances and the faith that they will endure, what security has anyone that the interpretation of the word, "transient", may not be changed to two weeks or a month at the whim of some subsequent council.

Sincerely,
James O. Baxter.

Harrison Godwin Is Now Real Estate Broker

Harrison Godwin, owner of the Pine Inn, this week took steps to return to his earlier love, real estate. In the lobby of his hotel he has opened a real estate brokerage office to be administered by Harrison Godwin and Associates, the associates at present being James Loman and Richard Collins. They will carry exclusive listings of many parcels of Del Monte Properties and will handle rentals as well as sales. Mr. Godwin was a broker for many years prior to 1940 when he acquired the Pine Inn. For seventeen years he was connected with the Del Monte Properties Company.

Dr. Billie's Garden

By L. A. W.

That garden calendar is full of surprises; for me, anyway. It runs back over four years of digging and scratching and pulling and burying out here on The Point. When I turned back to '44 and '45 it said I was planting fruit trees and berry vines in January. Why, Bess has made berry jam—all we need—for three years now we haven't bought any fruit, either. Last fall we had peaches, plums and "an" apple, to say nothing of White King figs and a few Brown Turkeys—figs, that is.

In 1944 several days were taken up with getting an asparagus bed started. The soil out here is pretty light for asparagus, but by being generous with stable manure, leaves, grass cuttings, and water we had a half-dozen good "messes" of asparagus last spring. This year when I let the plants go, after a few weeks of cutting, they grew higher than my head. Ought to have good eating from the bed this next spring. Evidently January is the month to put out asparagus, too. Perhaps I'd better get generous again with manure.

O, yes, that gopher in the parsley rows! I got him—a whopping big male—so did not have to call on Mr. Black. While I was getting the rodent out of the trap, Miss Brown—she's the sister of Mr. Black—came to watch the proceedings. After the gopher was clear of the trap she gave him an experimental pat or two and sat back to see what would happen. Nothing did, so she poked him with a little more assurance and remarked: "Bet brother wouldn't want to tangle with that fellow either." Well, I buried him in his run and that's one good deed done so early in the season. Wish I could get the mole as easily and quickly—even harder and slower would be all right, too.

Tempted to put in some Alaska or Mammoth Poddled peas this month. The calendar says I tried that in '44 and '45 but they didn't produce any earlier than those planted in February. Still and all it might have been the location, or the rain may have been too heavy and too cold. If I had plenty of room I might try it again but in limited space it doesn't pay to experiment too much. We'll see. May yield yet.

Soon after the middle of the month I'll have to sow broccoli, cabbage and cauliflower seeds in boxes so as to get the young plants ready to set out in February. The broccoli is the Italian Sprouting; early cabbage is Jersey Wakefield. May try for a few Savoy, a green, curly headed variety; for cauliflower the Burpeeana does well out here and Snowball did well too. There'll probably be twice as many plants as there is room for but the neighbors are good and willingly take away the surplus.

Wouldn't be bad to sow a little

Romaine lettuce in the open ground around the twentieth. This kind of lettuce doesn't do very well in warm weather so the earlier it is started the better. If it isn't up in a couple of weeks I'll sow some more and even that won't be too late. Could sow a few radishes, too, by the middle of the month. They'll come along fast enough not to be strong and woody and will be something fresh and new from the garden in late March or early April. Then a few Irish potatoes might not be too bad an idea. They do take up a lot of space for a long time (about four months) but new potatoes and green peas are a natural with spring lamb, if you can afford the lamb—if not, they are a natural period.

Next month I can really get to planting, so better see that all the ground is in good shape, well-manured and well dug. Thank Heaven I don't have to worry about drainage. The soil here drinks up rain like a dry sponge. O, sure! Better get those artichoke plants weeded out right away. Good time to scratch out the chickweed in the berry patch and young weeds in the strawberry bed. Always one more chore to do!

DESERT TRIP

Dr. and Mrs. A. A. Greene have returned from a week's trip. They first drove their daughter to Claremont so that she might return to Scripps College, and then they went on for a pleasant time at Palm Springs, and Tucson, Arizona.

taken out by the members of the Paganini Quartet, which appeared last summer in a benefit performance held in connection with the fund drive of the Association. In his letter to the Association, Henri Temianka, leader of the Quartet, reported from New York that the well known musical group, which has its permanent home in the Carmel Highlands, has before it a very busy schedule for the coming concert season, including more than a hundred engagements. He reported that Mr. Robert Maas, cellist of the Quartet, has recovered from his recent illness, and that an extensive engagement at Berkeley next summer will cut short the time which the Quartet will be able to spend at its Carmel home.

NEW PHOTOGRAPHY CLASS

The newest photography class of the Carmel Adult School is conducted by Mrs. Leota Tucker at 2 p. m. Tuesdays at her studio on Mission Street near Fifth, with emphasis on portrait technique. Dark room work is still done at Sunset School.

Mrs. Tucker's Thursday evening class in the music room of Sunset School is now specializing in color photography and exhibitions of students' work is a main feature. Dr. Ralph Weston continues to advise on this subject. Starting in February this class will be given one out-of-town show each month, the first to be Eastman's film entitled Ten Thousand Miles in Sound and Color.

Death Valley Pictures To Be Shown Next Monday

Last Monday evening the second of the series of ten programs on Appreciation of Nature was given by C. Edward Graves for the Carmel Adult School in the Sunset Auditorium with over a hundred nature enthusiasts in attendance. The program covered the Sawtooth Mountains in Idaho, the Sawtooth Mountain in Idaho, and the Olympic Mountains in Washington.

Among other subjects Mr. Graves showed pictures of moose and elk and antelope. In connection with these pictures he discussed briefly the psychological problems involved in hunting for sport. He raised the question, "What instinct is there in hunting that can't be satisfied equally well in animal photography?" adding "Certainly if danger and excitement is one of the incentives, a wild life photographer constantly finds himself in more dangerous situations than a hunter possibly could, partly because he is unable to carry weapons for self-defense along with his photographic equipment."

Next Monday evening beginning at 7:30 Mr. Graves will give a program on Death Valley. He will show natural color slides of the sand dunes, the salt marshes, the wild flower fields, the great volcanic crater at the north end of the valley, the warm springs and ponds, the steep side canyons, and finally close-ups of the slopes of Telescope Peak which towers 11,325 feet above the valley floor. These programs are open to the public and are free. They last from 7:30 to 9:30 with a ten minute intermission in the middle and people who are unable to attend the entire program may come for either one of the two halves.

WRITERS CLUB

The Writers Club of the Carmel Adult School are inviting all writers of the Peninsula to meet with them at 7:30 next Monday evening, January 19, in Room 11 of Sunset School, for the general purpose of becoming acquainted with both successful and aspiring writers of the fiction technique. Discussion in this group is led by Mrs. Glenn Clairmonte, who has made the statement that the chief value of the club is the associations encountered there.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS (Advertisement)

1. NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Board of Trustees of the Carmel Unified School District will receive bids for the furnishing of all labor, materials, transportation and service for the erection and construction of two different projects, as follows:

(1) An aquatic center consisting of a diving pool, swimming pool, locker building, concrete bleachers and sun bathing deck.

(a) Music Building.

Both projects to be constructed at the Carmel High School site, Carmel, California.

2. Each bid to be in accordance with the plans and specifications now on file with the ERNEST J. KUMP COMPANY, Consultants, 9 Main Street, San Francisco 5, California, where same may be examined and copies obtained upon deposit of $25.00 per set, which deposit will be refunded upon the return of such copies in good condition within five days after the bids are opened.

3. Each bid shall be made on a form to be obtained at the office of the ERNEST J. KUMP COMPANY, Consultants, 9 Main Street, San Francisco 5, California, and must be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check or a bid bond for ten percent of the amount bid, made payable to the order of Board of Trustees, Carmel Unified School District, shall be sealed and filed with the Clerk of the Board on or before the 5th day of February at 7:30 p.m. and will be opened in public at or about 7:30 p.m. of that day in the offices of the Carmel High School, Carmel, Monterey County, California.

4. The above mentioned check or bond shall be given as a guarantee that the bidder will enter into a contract if awarded the work, and will be declared forfeited if the successful bidder refuses to enter into said contract after being requested to do so by the Board of Trustees of the Carmel Unified School District.

5. The successful bidder will be required to furnish a labor and material bond in an amount equal to 50% of the contract price and a faithful performance bond in an amount equal to 100% of the contract price, said bonds to be secured from a surety company satisfactory to the Board of Trustees of the Carmel Unified School District. A list of such surety companies is on file in the office of the ERNEST J. KUMP COMPANY.

6. Bidders are hereby notified that pursuant to the Statutes of the State of California, or local law thereto applicable, the Board of Trustees of the Carmel Unified School District has ascertained the general prevailing rate of per diem wages and rates for legal holidays and overtime work in the locality in which this work is to be performed for each craft or type of workman or mechanic needed to execute the contract, which will be awarded the successful bidder.

7. The prevailing rates so determined are as follows:

8. All other trades not hereinabove mentioned to receive wage prescribed for that particular craft or type of workman.

9. All labor to receive time and one-half for overtime, double time on holidays, unless otherwise specified. The hourly wage prescribed hereinabove is the per diem rate divided by the aforementioned number of hours constituting a working day.

10. Any person making a bid or offer to perform the work, shall, in his bid or offer, set forth the name and the location of the mill, shop or office of each subcontractor who will perform work or labor or render service to the contractor in or about the construction of the work or improvement and the portion of the work which will be done by each subcontractor.

11. If a contractor fails to specify a subcontractor for any portion of the work to be performed under the contract, he shall be deemed to have agreed to perform such portion himself, and he shall not be permitted to subcontract that portion of the work except under conditions hereinafter set forth.

12. No contractor whose bid is accepted shall, without the consent of the awarding authority, either:

(a) Substitute any person as subcontractor in place of the subcontractor designated in the original bid or

(b) Permit any subcontract to be assigned or transferred or allow it to be performed by anyone other than the original subcontractor, or

(c) Sublet or subcontract any portion of the work as to which his original bid did not designate a subcontractor.

13. Subletting or subcontracting of any portion of the work as to which no subcontractor was designated in the original bid shall only be permitted in cases of public emergency or necessity, and then only after a finding reduced to writing as a public record of the awarding authority setting forth the facts constituting such emergency or necessity.

14. The Board of Trustees of the Carmel Unified School District reserves the right to reject any and all bids and/or waive any irregularity in any bid received. Unless otherwise required by law, no bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of thirty (30) days after the date set for the opening thereof.

St. John's Chapel is a beautiful little church nestling in a grove of giant oak trees. Men and women from many lands have found it to be a place apart. It may be that you also will find its atmosphere congenial to the spiritual life. The Chapel is open all day. Those who seek in its stillness to grow more conscious of God's presence do not go unrewarded. Sunday services at 8 and 11 a.m. This Chapel is opposite the Naval School, just outside Monterey, on Fremont Street.

The Time Has Come . .

By KIPPY STUART

If the bug world had an insect newspaper, banner headlines might read like this. TWENTY MILLION KILLED! FEW SURVIVORS! ENTIRE POPULATION DESTROYED! The Monterey Peninsula weather man would be responsible for such headlines, and for this, we are much obliged. The cold snap in December and early January has done gardeners a good turn. The past few winters have been so mild that insect pests thrived and gardeners tore their hair. You may have shivered through those frosty nights, but so did the bugs; they shivered themselves to death. 1948 will be a good year for gardeners.

There are three major garden pests on the Monterey Peninsula; thrip, red spider, and aphid. These destructive insects are ubiquitous. Aphids are easy to recognize and easy to eradicate. They are sluggish beasts and move slowly, but their movements are visible to the naked eye. Some aphids have long legs that stagger about in drunken fashion; other aphids are round blobs that adhere to the backs of leaves and up and down stems. They come in two colors; green and black, and you can have your choice. This sticky customer is the milch-cow of the ant kingdom, so wherever you see ants, watch for aphid. A good dose of nicotine spray will rid you of aphid. Not so with thrip and red spider. These marauders are almost invisible and they move with the speed of lightning. Now you have one . . . now you haven't. The way to hunt for the thrip and red spider is to cut a small branch of an ailing plant and hold the branch over a sheet of white paper. Tap the branch lightly and tiny specks like pepper will fall. For a few seconds the pepper will not move. This is thrip playing possum. When thrip think you are not looking, he starts going places. The pepper-specks scurry hither and yon and you had better catch thrip-and-his-brother before he jumps off the paper. Red spider and thrip are usually found together and both look like pepper specks. Red spider comes in two colors; the infant is reddish—the adult black. How these pests beget . . . and beget . . . and beget!

If you are possessed of an Arnold Spray you are fortunate for this spray is equipped to use two chemicals at one time. Break one nicotine cartridge and one sulphur cartridge in half. Insert both halves into the chamber and there you are. You can't get so fresh with other sulphur sprays. If chemical sprays that you use have an oil base, beware of using sulphur. The Arnold products have a harmless base and can be used indiscriminately.

Professor H. N. Butterfield, of the University of California, says that D.D.T. is not good for the garden. D.D.T. kills too many friendly insects, yet it does not harm aphid. D.D.T. kills a minute wasp that is enemy to the aphid, thereby protecting the aphid. The two sprays that will rid your garden of the most prevalent insect pests are nicotine and sulphur. These chemicals are easy to come by and easy to use.

UPJOHN TO SPEAK

H. S. Upjohn will talk on The Best Sellers Through the Years before Mrs. Glenn Clairmonte's class in current literature at 7:30 p.m. next Tuesday, January 20, in Room 11 of Sunset School. Mr. Upjohn was a teacher most of his life but since his retirement as county superintendent of schools in Los Angeles County he has been collecting books, in his home on Ridgewood Road. Last year when he spoke in Mrs. Clairmonte's class he aroused nostalgia for many of the books which were well loved during the last fifty years but which have been forgotten because of the new contributions to literature, and because of the new trends.

Visitors are welcome to join this group for any of the Tuesday evening meetings.

Peninsula Delegates Leave Today For San Jose Meeting

Members of the executive board of the League of Women Voters of the Monterey Peninsula accompanied the president, Mrs. Edmond Sullivan, to the organization's area meeting in San Jose today. The meeting is at the First Lutheran Church from ten to two o'clock.

Miss Orre Haseltine and Mrs. Eben Whittlesey planned to go with Mrs. Sullivan to the meeting.

Monterey, Palo Alto, Salinas, San Mateo, and San Jose Leagues are sending delegates who will consider the most effective means of service to the community in this election year. Promoting public support for the European Recovery Program also will highlight this and the four other League area meetings in northern California this month. The party system and methods of achieving party responsibility will be discussed by Mrs. Herbert Richards of San Francisco, and plans for the abolition of cross-filing will be considered.

Mrs. Scarborough of Los Angeles, national board member, will report on the recent board meeting in Washington, D.C., at which the organization voted full support of the European Recovery Program and urged that wherever possible the program be tied in with the United Nations. Mrs. Alan C. Taft, northern vice-president of the California League will conduct the meeting, and other state officers will be present.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The Carmel Missionary Society will meet at All Saints' Parish House on Tuesday, January 27, at 2:30 p.m. The Reverend J. Armistead Welbourne will speak on Memories of a Missionary to Japan. Mrs. R. Ellis Roberts, newly elected chairman for All Saints' Church, will conduct the meeting.

Jobs

— IN A SACK OF CEMENT

— IN A TON OF STEEL

— IN A MILE OF WIRE

1947 was a busy year of work and accomplishment for this company. Thousands of tons of cement, steel and wire have been set in place by labor in the field on scores of gas and electric projects throughout Northern and Central California.

Great construction projects, such as this company's $350,000,000 expansion program, beget jobs and spread millions of dollars through many payrolls. More than 1575 new employees were signed on with the P. G. and E. during the past year, while in the two-year period from August 1945 to October 1947 the company's payroll increased by 5845 employees. Private contractors, working on P. G. and E. construction have an additional 2340 men in monthly average employment.

And beyond that are jobs in every sack of cement, every ton of steel and every mile of wire that was made or fabricated and handled and stored and unloaded at the job sites.

All of this construction money becomes constructive dollars of local wealth because it is made on the job and paid on the job in hundreds of communities in this area.

Have You Read . . . ?

BY JOHN AND ADELINE CRAIG

The Practicing of Christopher, by Josephine Eckert, published by The Dial Press.

"An absorbing story of a small boy's adventures, written with genuine humor," says Lewis Gannett. "This tender yet penetrating novel, picturing the relationship between a lonely child and his over-busy father, received the 1946 Avery Hopwood Fiction Award."

School was out and Christopher, although he did not care much for school, was lonely. He followed his parents—first Gerrie, then Allan—like a small puppy who wants to belong to someone.

"Go do something," was the theme song of the father Allan, a busy history professor. "When I was your age I always had something to do. Of course I couldn't play all day. I had to work."

It was amazing how well Christopher could think when Allan was talking.

Binkie was a bachelor friend of Christopher's parents but he was fun because you could talk to him about anything. He was a newspaper columnist and a poet, and he knew all kinds of queer stories and never made you feel as if you were a bother.

Another friend was Theodore Fitzgerald, known as Blood and Guts. Blood and Guts was a small, delicately built boy who wore glasses. He could wiggle his ears and talk without moving his lips. Christopher and Blood and Guts found themselves locked up in the Natural Science building one night. The folks became frightened and therefore the boys sank into disgrace too deep for punishment.

One day Christopher went over to Gerrie, his mother. "I'm going to be an archaeologist some day," he told her, hoping his father would overhear.

His father did overhear. "Don't bother your mother now, Christopher."

Christopher liked to "make believe." For example, during supper he pretended that the carrots made him shrink, while the milk made him shoot up taller than a tree.

"Christopher doesn't know where reality ends," observed his father. "I've written Dr. Meadon, describing the situation, and he thinks it would be excellent for a boy like Christopher to go to Military School."

And that is the reason Christopher ran away from home. How he managed to reach Binkie in New York, and the adventures the newspaper writer who is a poet had with the little boy who wanted to be understood make interesting reading.

The high adventure in Christopher's life came when Binkie bought him a microscope. He had not talked about it at all. They simply walked into a store and bought it. "So you can be a respectable bug man."

To see things through the eyes of nine-year-old Christopher is indeed an experience. To watch him become wise with the help of Binkie is an education.

"It isn't that Allan doesn't like you, Christopher. He's just forgotten what it's like to be only nine. And then he gets mixed up and expects you to think the way he does. You'll have to be patient with him."

Whether you have a little boy of your own or not, Christopher is fun to know. Finally the denouncement is attained: "Christopher beamed across the table at his suddenly solemn-faced parents. 'Just call me Chris,' he said."

It won't take long to come to this delightful ending, for the book "reads fast," and the realistic simple charm of The Practicing of Christopher stays with the reader long after he has closed the book.

FLEDGLING FLIGHT

*There is no joy like that of fledgling flight, the first proud spreading of the eager wings;
the heartbeat quickened to the measured height of far-horizon's misty beckonings.
What magic in unknown, untraveled skies, through veils of dawn into the sunset's glow!
No patterned road, no markings to devise the path unfettered wings may choose to go.*

*Fly to the bounds a restless spirit seeks;
battle the hungry wind, the night's black cloud;
soar high above the blue mountain's ragged peaks on swift sure pinions of the justly proud.
Wings do not falter though the way be far to dip the silver from a chosen star!*

—HELEN HYDE JENSEN.

DOGWOOD

*We watched the tree-lamp,
The wide blossom gleamed pearl,
The flame was held between leaves;
This one bloom stemmed the night;
Where each petal descended
A new light was born.*

—ORIAN DEPLEDGE.

AS HIS KIN

*Four unstressed notes that roll upon
And over me in the green still
Of knee-deep grass, a metered run
Of fellowship from a bird's bill,
And the four notes are steps and I
Mount trees as if I, too, belong,
And enter woodfolks' homes and pry
Everywhere seeking for a song.*

*Yet the time, precious interlude,
The hidden bird sings from a limb
I need not stir to own a wood,
I, as his kin, share it with him,
Through every pore, in every vein
I am a part of all I see
And hear, I am made new again
By a bird's simple melody.*

—ALEX R. SCHMIDT.

Carmel Story . . .

THE HOUSE OF MARTIN—CHAPTER II

BY DAISY BOSTICK

So William and Agnes Martin and their five children took firm root in the Carmel valley along the banks of the Rio Carmelo and began to cultivate and farm the land. The oldest boy John worked sometimes at odd jobs—part of the time in a sawmill located between the present Pacific Grove and the Country Club in what is still known as Sawmill Gulch.

Three years passed and in 1859 John and one of his brothers purchased the interest of L. F. Loveland in the Mission Ranch. John settled down as a man of affairs with the care of his stock, his dairy and his other growing industries. He and his brothers also acquired lands at the mouth of the Salinas and the Pajaro rivers.

The Carmel Mission at this time was in ruins. The confiscation by Mexico in 1833 of all the lands granted by Spain to the California Missions completely disrupted the Mission system and Father Junipero Serra's favorite, the one at the mouth of the Rio Carmelo was one of the hardest hit. The Indians, who had been clothed, housed and instructed in religious precepts had scattered, the priests were shorn of their power and sent to other locations, vandals had stolen and ruined the precious relics and had even stripped tiles from the roof. It is generally believed that some of these same tiles are on the roofs of certain Monterey adobes.

So the lovely old Mission was just a useless ruin when John Martin moved into the small ranch building adjoining it. The ranch took on a historical interest for it had at one time been a part of the original Mission holdings and it was on that same land that the first tiles were made for the Mission roof. On that spot also had been a tannery where hides and tallow were prepared for market by the Mission Indians supervised by the Padres.

With the passing of years John Martin probably developed a nostalgia for his Canadian home—anyway he decided to make a return trip there. During his visit he met and married a widow—blonde, blue-eyed Elizabeth Stewart. Her parents were Andrew and Isabel Hislop, who, like the Martins, were of Scotch ancestry. With this marriage John acquired a family of three Stewart children—John, Joseph and Andrew. In 1871 Martin with his wife and three boys arrived at their new home. At that time Gilroy was the terminus of the railroad and it was necessary to complete their journey by spring wagon. It must have been a tired little group that finally landed at the Mission Ranch after three weeks on the way. It was the rainy season and much of the land surrounding the river was inundated. Little Andrew, aged five, went out and looked about him. He scanned the sea, the river and the flooded lands and exclaimed to his mother:

"Look, mother, we can't go any further. We've come to the end of the world!"

By the time John Martin returned from his trip to Canada, he was a family man, an experienced rancher and a person of varied accomplishments in craftsmanship. Before leaving Scotland he had learned the weaver's trade and after coming to Canada had taken up cabinet work. And when the devastating diphtheria epidemic swept through both white and Indian families in the Carmel valley, Martin's knowledge of cabinet work enabled him to make many coffins for those who had succumbed to the disease, and most of them were buried in parallel rows in and around the Mission quadrangle.

Martin was also an expert worker in iron, and some of his pieces are now in the Monterey Custom House Museum. So, being a man of many resources it was inevitable that old lady Success should give him her blessing.

We Must Lend Spiritual As Well As Material Aid To Europe Says Fannie Hurst On Town Hall Program

Discussing her announced topic of Are Authors People as too frivolous and unproductive in this time of crisis for the people of the United States as for the people of the world, Fannie Hurst, author of many novels, spoke on the importance, the absolute necessity for Americans to take an intelligent and forceful place in guiding public opinion of the nation and of the world toward decisions and policies that will resolve the difficulties that face our civilization. She spoke in Sunset auditorium last Friday night in the fourth of Town Hall programs on the Monterey Peninsula. She was introduced by Noel Sullivan.

The average citizen of this country can make himself felt among other nations if he will, yet too many are apathetic, almost indifferent to the plight of other nations, and cling to our comfortable abundance which was not touched by the war, fondly believing that peace and security are assured for America. It is such blindness among the people that has given a fruitful field for the machinations of dictators in past ages, as well as for the debasing of the German people in the recent world debacle. The American people must rouse themselves and face the fact that the fate of the civilized world hinges upon the development of a public opinion that will fearlessly face the crisis and lead to establishing a foundation for world cooperation.

The American way of life can be preserved only by eternal vigilance, Miss Hurst insisted, a small price for our prized freedoms. Fear is a menace that can destroy our liberties, fear of Communism or of other ideologies opposed to the democratic order. But these ideas grow only in societies where people are impoverished and miserable, without the opportunity to improve their lot economically or socially. It is this hopeless economic condition that we must set ourselves to prevent or to cure, not only in this country but also in the world.

Americans who believe that one person is powerless to effect a change in conditions, said the speaker, is living in the past and fails to see the great force of a united public opinion, which can move governments. Most of us are moved to action only when our pocketbooks or our interests are threatened; we think too little of the power of social forces aroused by hunger and want. With the world turning to us for aid, the choice is severe and our lot isn't easy. Not only material aid but spiritual leadership must come from this country. Not least important is the support we must give the United Nations, as well as an unceasing effort to make a better democratic society free from prejudice.

New power for your BUICK!

Today's Power, Today's Performance,
Today's Zip - for Buicks up to Ten Years Old!

MAYBE this sounds too good to be true. But it's a fact!

Even if your Buick dates back as far as 1937, you can have a hoodful of factory-fresh Fireball power—a sleek new power plant that's the same as the engines going into the latest Buick cars.

Everything about it is brand-new. A new carburetor and air cleaner help make every drop of fuel give up all its power. A new distributor, complete with vacuum and centrifugal advance, puts new snap in your get-away and new pep in all driving. A whole new wiring harness prevents electrical loss. And tucked in the flywheel housing is a new smoothie of a clutch that'll make driving more fun than ever.

Yes, it's all new, with the latest Buick engine features you read about—like precision cylinder boring, Oil-Miser rings, Stratoflow cooling and so on.

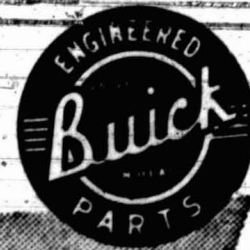

You can get a new engine like this because engine production is not held back by the shortage of sheet steel which limits complete-car production.

So we're able to put one of these hones into your car and make it young again—give it new power and performance that will get you set for thousands and thousands more carefree miles.

How much does it cost? Not nearly what you'd expect—often less than a comprehensive overhaul. And it's a mighty good investment because it makes your car worth so much more when it comes time to turn it in.

Nice proposition, isn't it? Surely worth talking over. Won't you come in and let us give you all the details?

Visitors From Manila

Mr. and Mrs. James Rockwell of Manila, old friends and recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Yard of the Highlands Inn, have related some of their experiences in a Jap concentration camp at Santa Tomas during three war years. By the time their liberators arrived, they were at such a weak point, ten or twelve more days would have killed them. They, like all the others, were fed only a few bowls of rice a day for three years. Mr. Rockwell has been at Johns Hopkins, under treatment for ailments due to malnutrition.

He flew last Wednesday night for Manila, where he is President of the Manila Electric Company, but will soon be back, for he retires in 1950 and plans to settle in Carmel. Mrs. Rockwell will fly to Manila a week later than her husband, for they have a young boy and have no intentions of leaving him alone if a plane accident should occur to one of them. Old friends also of the Rockwells are Major General Gary Chapman of Hatton Fields, and Col. Lawson Little who lives in Del Monte and is father of the golfer, Lawson Little. The meeting between the colonel and Mr. Rockwell was quite coincidental for the colonel had taken a party of six up to the Highlands, Inn for dinner, where he ran into Mr. Rockwell; the two were old friends from Tien Tsin, China, and had quite a reconciliation.

Commander LaCauza Arrives

Commander Frank E. LaCauza, USNR, chairman of the department of electrical engineering at the Navy's newest postgraduate school at Del Monte, arrived this week at Monterey, having been transferred from Newport, Rhode Island. Professor LaCauza earned his B.S. at Harvard in 1923 and his M.A. the following year after taking courses at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He was instructor of mathematics at Harvard for two years before being called to Annapolis, where he reached his full professorship, giving special courses in magnetism and gyroscope compass. He is the author of the chapter on the latter subject in the textbook, Knight's Modern Seamanship.

During the war Commander LaCauza was detailed to assist in immunizing ships against magnetic mines. He is a member of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers and many other scholarly associations.

Leite Activities

George Leite, that Renaissance man of letters and action, who combines running a book store, an art gallery, raising a family, with writing poetry, editing Circle magazine, and publishing books, being a wit and raconteur to boot, has added to his activities two days of work in the psychiatric ward at San Quentin. Mr. Leite resides in Berkeley where he runs his Daliel bookstore, and is a frequent visitor to Carmel.

Double Feature

Sel McDaniels of San Francisco, who used to live at the Highlands and play nightly at the Mission Ranch Barn, is seen around town on week ends when he comes down to play for the Saturday night dances at the Ranch. This week end he was on double duty, first playing piano cocktail music for the guests of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Hudson, then scurrying on down to the Ranch for his regular program at the novachord.

Carmel Revisited

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller were visiting here in the valley for the week end. Mrs. Miller used to run a dancing school in Carmel.

Los Altos Visit

Mr. and Mrs. George Wilcox spent the week end in Los Altos with Mr. and Mrs. A. Henley, who have just purchased a new home there.

Easterner Leaves

Miss Vicky Sandolis returned to Boston, last Sunday, after spending her holidays in Carmel at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. McNeill.

Southern California Visit

The Reverend and Mrs. Alfred Seccombe of All Saints' Episcopal Church have returned to Carmel after a two weeks' vacation in Southern California, visiting Coronado, San Diego, and Palm Springs.

Drive North

Mrs. Paco Ferro left Carmel Sunday to drive to San Francisco for a week's vacation. Virginia Varda drove with Mrs. Ferro to the city, where she is making plans for a business-vacation trip east this spring.

Southern Tour

Dr. and Mrs. Victor Piro of Chelan, Washington, were house guests of Col. and Mrs. J. F. Andrews, stopping over in Carmel on their way to Long Beach to pick up the Corsair for Acapulco. From there, they go to Guatemala, then to Havana; they will catch the Mardi Gras in New Orleans, and will probably make another Carmel visit in February before returning to Washington.

Mothers' Meeting

When the Junipero Serra Mother's Club met last week in the Old Rectory for its regular January meeting, Mrs. B. Updike spoke on the Feast of the Circumcision, and Mrs. Perry Newberry, the school nurse, gave a talk on Child Nutrition. The mothers discussed plans for their annual Bazaar and Rummage sale in April, and decided to make a feature attraction of a hope chest filled with hand-hemmed linen. Mrs. Kenneth White was elected chairman of the project.

Vacation in Los Angeles

Mrs. John Cunningham and her son Ashley spent the week in Los Angeles with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cecil. Mrs. Cecil once lived in Carmel and has many friends here. During her visit Mrs. Cunningham saw the Arensberg collection of old and new art masterpieces and the pre-Columbian exhibit collected by Mr. Earl Stendahl. Mr. Stendahl provides museums with pre-Columbian art pieces and takes frequent trips to Central American countries for the gathering of more material, and is planning to leave this week for Peru.

Dr. Aurner Lectures

At 6:00 p.m., Sunday night, January 18, Dr. Robert R. Aurner, Professor of Business Administration at the University of Wisconsin, will speak to the Youth Fellowship of the Church of the Wayfarer on the topic, "Can Business Serve Society." Hosts at the party afterwards will be: Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Henderson, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward K. Neroda. Dr. Aurner spoke last week at the Rotary Club, and Tuesday evening addressed Mrs. Glenn Clairmonte's class in Current Literature.

Berlin Family Adopted

One of the most interesting projects of the Youth Fellowship of the Church of the Wayfarer was the adoption of a Berlin family: mother, father, and six children. Through the help of Professor Karl Brandt, of the Food Research Bureau at Stanford, who spent a post war year in Germany investigating living conditions, the Youth Fellowship was able to secure the name of a particularly needy family. Now, regularly, packages of food, clothing, house necessities and more food, find their way to Berlin, and letters come back from Frau Erna Schmidt telling the details of the impoverished, insecure life of her family. Reading the letters together, the Youth Fellowship was particularly struck by the one simple dramatic little fact which, just by itself, told a whole people's story, that the eldest child, fifteen years old, weighed somewhere around or under 79 pounds. The group says that the letters are never complaining, never whining, merely reporting that life is very difficult, that it is utterly impossible to find clothes or any substitutes, and asking, above all, for soap and darning patches.

Settled in Orchard

Mr. and Mrs. John McDermott (the former Shirley Lewis of the Pine Cone Staff) have written from Fresno that they are now ensconced in a cottage surrounded by two and a half acres of fig trees and have named their home La Cajita. They took time out to go to Pasadena for the parade and the Rose Bowl Game but now are settling in for a year of hard work.

Reno Wedding

It happened a long time ago, but nobody seems aware of it yet. The record shows that on November 12, at high noon in Reno, Mrs. Margaret Henney was married to Mr. George Kerr. Red roses were decorative notes, and Mrs. Henney appeared in an elegance of black satin, diamond clips and white orchids. Mrs. Kerr is a cousin of Jim Greenan of Nevada; her daughter, Andre Henney, now lives in Carmel. Mr. and Mrs. Kerr live sometimes in Berkeley, sometimes in Reno.

Artist Married

Artist Mildred Vertin, member of the Carmel Art Gallery Association, was married Saturday evening, January 10, at the Church of the Wayfarer by Dr. K. Fillmore Gray to Mr. Bruce Galloway from the East Bay Region. The bride was neatly tailored in a grey striped suit, with feathered hat and white orchids. Mr. Galloway now works in Monterey in the lumber business, and the couple will make their home in Carmel.

Monterey Week End

Mr. Donald Kalish, Instructor in Philosophy at the University of California at Berkeley, was the house guest over the week end of Mr. Ed Ricketts of Monterey. Mr. Ricketts entertained his guest Saturday night with a small dinner party followed by a gathering of guests to listen to records and indulge in all those conversational topics people get into at parties.

Carmel Diggers

Seen at the Monterey Gold Rush was artist Sam Colburn digging away like crazy with a pitchfork in his hand and a wild gleam in his eye. Results: a glimpse of two coins found by some luckier digger. Also seen was Carol Howard's dog Toni, pawing away frantically for gold.

In a cottage on 8th and Santa Fe, MRS. JANE EGGLESTON is disposing of some of the furniture she brought down from her San Jose home. A complete dining room set in cherry wood, paintings in tempora and oil, a yellow wing chair, a full length Chesterfield, end tables, are some of the handsome pieces she is selling. There is also a Zenith radio, and the surprise note of a Delape accordion with 140 base. Mrs. Eggleston's number is 38904, and you might call her to make an appointment so that you can see for yourself any of the furniture you might wish to purchase.

The tea serving TUCK BOX will be closed from January 18 to February 14 while Mr. and Mrs. Grandfield take a well earned vacation, and the TUCK BOX takes a turn at being renovated.

Dish ease, dish cleanliness, come with the magic formula that operates the General Electric Washers at DON EARLY'S shop on San Carlos. The formula, magic and automatic, goes something like this: dishes are put into their wire compartments, soap is poured in its small metal case, lid is closed, machinery whirs, cold water rinses dishes, flows out, soap gadget opens and sprays soap on dishes, hot water streams in, dishes are washed, more fresh water rinses them, top opens slightly, propeller moves hot air over dishes, dries them. And there you are, nerves saved, hands saved, time saved. The Dish Washers come with or without an attached sink, and are ready for immediate delivery.

For the New Year, new rhythm, new grace, from the JUNE DELIGHT DANCE STUDIO. Miss Delight, who was a member of Theodore Kosloff's ballet in Los Angeles, who studied Spanish dancing with Elisa Cansino, and has been teaching in Carmel for the past fourteen years, is opening new classes for ballet and tap, and plans an advanced ballroom class for last year's students. Her beginning ballroom classes for Junior high students will give them sheer fundamentals and a little of everything in the way of waltzing, fox trotting, rhumbaing. For the pursuit of happiness and the desire never to be the prize dance of the dance floor, it is good to learn early how to move gracefully.

There's a knick knack shelf at CARLETON'S GROCERY for those interested in exotic food stuffs such as caviar, smokedysters, shad roe, anchovies in olive oil from Portugal, smoked sturgeon and crepes suzettes. And for those interested in hungry mouths in Europe there is a good line of canned staples: sweet butter, roast beef, Hormel hams, powdered eggs, sliced bacon—all food we daily accept, but whose tinned arrival in Europe is the best headline that hungry continent could ask.

Blazing with wonderful color is the FLOR DE MONTEREY filled with fresh plants of blooming cyclamen, and masses of azalea. The azaleas have faces of deep coral and splashed pale pink, white; the cyclamen are in straight solid colors of pink, rose, red, fuschia, purple and white. Prepare for spring with porches and rooms massed with potted plants, or filled with cut spring flowers like jonquils and china lilies from the FLOR DE MONTEREY.

Decorated with water colors by Professor Obata of the University of California, the PINE DEW SUKIYAKI restaurant is serving Japanese food for those who like it, and supplies steaks for those who aren't in the Oriental mood. Sukiyaki which means "spade broil" is a dish first cooked by peasants in the fields near Nagasaki, and now a dish for poets sitting elegantly at ease, while the meat and fresh vegetables steam away in front of them in glowing casseroles. We are glad to know that just over the hill on Cass Street there is delicious sukiyaki to be had at the newly opened PINE DEW RESTAURANT.

At the VILLAGE JEWELERS, along with the handsome new watches, there are also used watches, just as exciting, for they come in the famous makes of Bulova, Elgin and Hamilton; they are repaired, re-conditioned, fully guaranteed for a year, and are selling at a good low price. Flatter that wrist tan with a smart well-running watch. Those searching for the perfect engagement ring, wedding ring, will find it also at the VILLAGE JEWELERS, for they are agents for Keepsake wedding rings.

Vienna trained, IDA HANKE, continues to give her European Massage at her home-office on San Carlos and 5th. Miss HANKE's massage relaxes and stimulates at one and the same time, giving you a rocket like surge of exhilaration which probably occurs normally when you're fifteen, and later when you, possibly, hop a plane for Shanghai, or have it pounded into you from the hands of a good masseur.

The end of a concert, movie, or beach walk, can be brought to a perfect conclusion at WALT'S DAIRY LUNCH, which stays open until 1:00 a. m., ready to serve you with hot coffee and an endless variety of sandwiches. Or, if you've been indulging in a way-past-midnight dizzy discussion on art, politics, or the atom bomb, it is time to feed those tired brain cells with a sizzling steak, French fried potatoes, salad and coffee, all for $1.00 at WALT'S DAIRY LUNCH.

Those giant display windows on Ocean and Dolores belonging to the CORNER CUPBOARD gleam with all kinds of wonderful red tagged prizes at reduced prices, and the big Ocean window will especially make children happy for it fairly rocks with dolls and toys. Inside there are tables heaped with a treasured display of all kinds of metal jewelry, chains, bracelets, pins, earrings, silver and gold glitter, selling at a half, and a third, reduction. Enter the CORNER CUPBOARD and follow the red will o' the wisp clue of a tag and let it lead you to what you've been a long time seeking.

If you want your antiques to remain as dignified and elegant as antiques should, PAUL'S SHOP on 8th and San Carlos will repair and re-finish them for you; and if you want your mongrel furniture to attain classic ease, Mr. Paul Hill will go to work on that, too. All furniture receives fine grooming at this shop, and all kinds of other necessities are taken care of: chairs are caned, and saws are filed. Take your furniture problems to Mr. Hill and let him repair and refinish them into fine new shape.

"O Tempora! O Mores," says Mr. Knight of RINGS Drive-In, catywampus from the First Theatre, on Scott and Pacific, Monterey. "Way back yonder, Isosceles, the Greek philosopher, and hotdog stand prop, uttered an ut that is a classic to this very day. He said and we quote from memory "Ain't it awful." Only he said it in Latin so it is a classic. What he was driving at according to our interpretation was the way everybody was asking more and more for everything. We never dreamt that any motto so high falutin would apply to us. But since bread and meat have been going up as regularly as Old Faithful Geyser for the past few months the time has come when we are forced to raise the price of our regular 10c pre-war value hamburgers from 20c to 25c. For the time being we will slice cheese a bit thinner for our cheeseburgers and snitch a bit of burger out of our chilbergers and leave those prices alone. Ain't it awful."

If you see a bright flurry of light these nights from Huckleberry Hill, it is all those cars driving up Prescott and Lottie to MANUEL'S RESTAURANT in New Monterey. The word has gone around and all Peninsulaites know that this is the place for good Mexican food, and also the kind of place where you want to linger a long lazy time over your coffee and cigarettes. MANUEL'S RESTAURANT is open from 6:00 to 9:30 every night but Friday, and on Sunday from 2:00 to 9:30. Go taste wonderful food cooked by Felicitas and presented to you by Manuel.

Good hair stylists seem to be flocking through the El Paseo patio on Dolores, and now Beth Jones has transferred her beauty clientele to the EL PASEO BEAUTY STUDIO. Miss Jones has been working in Carmel since June, and before that was in the style room at Broadway, Pasadena. She is particularly interested in the dying and tinting of hair and believes that the color of the hair, its clear grey, shining gold and rich brown, is as important as its style. So take your hair shade problems to Beth Jones at the EL PASEO BEAUTY STUDIO for consultation and consolation.

Have you ever noticed how much the casual atmosphere of the VILLAGE CORNER is just like home? After you have sauntered up to the buffet counter, been served your coffee and sandwiches or whatever it is you want, helped yourself to sugar and cream and silverware, you can wander about, choose your favorite table, either one with a good view on Dolores so you can catch all your friends going by, or out in the sunny patio, then relax with the knowledge that you can read your mail, pen a note, chat with whomever you wish, or dig into a book if you like, all in complete Carmel peace.

For the supreme moment at your dinner party consider carefully the succulent value of local domestic rabbits from MAC'S POULTRY SHOP, wine stewed or neatly fried; or the gourmet touch of some delicately prepared chicken dish. MAC's carries fryers, small broilers, and special roasters at .62 a pound, and fricassee hens, colored and white, the white ones selling at .48 a pound. Also to be found are all size country ranch eggs, light and brown.

Mr. Dudley Yard of the HIGHLANDS INN wants everyone to know that the road winding up to the INN is ready now, and has been widened so magnificently that two cars could pass on it. There is a large parking space in front of the INN as well as garages. Cocktails at sunset time is something not to be missed and dinner is served every single night of the week. Drive up that broad new carpet of a highway and enjoy yourself at the HIGHLANDS INN.

The sun is shining, the water is blue, the air is delicious and it looks as though our January summer is here. You will want those deck chairs, sun porches and patios groomed and ready for sun bathing and outdoor gatherings, and the MONTEREY AWNING COMPANY at 938 Fremont in Seaside, phone 20475, is the place to have it done. They will put new awning on your porches for shade you will need, and supply all kinds of colored and striped and plain canvas yardage to give a new look to your pillows and garden furniture.

GAIL COUPÉ'S dress shop on San Carlos carries a line of clever sports clothes designed by the nationally known Koret of San Francisco. Outstanding in the collection are smart Smarty-Pants (pedal pusher) sets, excellent for bicycle pedaling and beach walking, and a good selection of slacks and middies. Smooth corduroy jackets buttoned in silver are good additions to your summer wardrobe, and there are a number of sport Koret designed dresses. With fine weather upon us, it would be good to visit the GAIL COUPÉ shop now, and be to the minute ready for sun and beach play.

You will now be able to acquire DAN HARRIS originals at lower prices all due to a dream the artist had in which his father appeared to him and told him to sell his paintings in order to complete his home, Crazy Crescent, at Del Monte Heights, on Harding near Hilby. So drive out anytime, especially today, or Saturday and Sunday, and you will find Crazy Crescent strewn with original Harris oils and water colors, starting at the startlingly low price of $18.50. Mr. Harris will be there to welcome you, charm you conversationally, and sell you one of his truly amusing and fantastic paintings.

Weston Visitors

Visiting the Weston house in the Highlands last week was Harwell Hamilton Harris, architect, who came up from Los Angeles for a few days, later in the week Miss Mary Erckenbrach jaunted down from San Francisco to enjoy the Weston's scenery and hospitality. Miss Erckenbrach is a ceramist. Following the departure of the guests, Mr. and Mrs. Cole Weston, son and daughter-in-law of Edward Weston, went to San Francisco to spend two days attending the State Conference for the Third Party. At the conference, Mr. Cole Weston was elected to the State executive committee.

Bird Walk Sunday

The Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society will hold its January field trip Sunday, January 18, at Moss Landing. Members and their friends will meet at 10:30 a. m. in the parking area next to the restaurant on the west side of Highway No. 1 at the north end of the bridge crossing Elkhorn Slough. The annual bird walk at Moss Landing is always a highlight for bird lovers because of the variety of waterfowl to be identified there.

The Society last evening entertained Roger Tory Peterson, the ornithologist, at dinner at La Ribera Hotel, preceding his illustrated lecture at Sunset Auditorium on The Middle of Migration.

From Scouting To Editing

Miss Martha Bullitt, formerly of the Pine Cone advertising staff, has been made West Coast representative of Whittlesey House in New York, with offices in Los Angeles and San Francisco. Miss Bullitt did editorial work for this publishing house when she was on the East Coast, and has been scouting for them the last two years along with her job at the San Francisco Museum of Art. She will travel up and down the state, interviewing authors and discovering geniuses.

Golf Celebrations

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Bunn held open house all day Sunday to entertain golfers and all their friends at the tournament.

Captain and Mrs. Leonard Kirby held a small dinner party in honor of golf week last Wednesday night; they are now in the San Joaquin Valley visiting Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Tevis on their ranch home there.

Sunday night the George E. Colemans entertained with a cocktail party for the pleasure of many golfers, and many of their friends who were on the Peninsula for golf week.

Hatlos In Arizona

Arriving at Camelback Inn with an ample supply of drawing boards paper and pencils, are Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Hatlo of Carmel, who will remain for two months at the desert resort near Phoenix, Arizona. Jimmy Hatlo plans to mix vacation with work, however, and will gather material for his They'll Do It Every Time cartoons which take place at Horned Toad Inn, which is Hatlo's name for Camelback Inn.

Highlands News

Miss Bernice Low has returned to her Highlands home after spending the New Year's holidays in Palm Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Inwood of the Highlands drove to Los Angeles for a few weeks vacation there.

From Carmel To Mexico

Mr. and Mrs. Melvyn Douglas, former Carmel residents, who have been the house guests of Dr. and Mrs. Remsen D. Bird for a week, left Carmel Sunday morning for a motor trip to Mexico. Mrs. Melvyn Douglas, who is known in movie and political circles as Helen Gahagan, is a member of the House of Representatives from the 14 District, California.

Returns Home

Albert Van Houtte returned Saturday after having spent two weeks in Marin County with his brother Charles.

Studio Gatherings

Henrietta Shore's studio in Sun Dial Court is a nest of activity now that the New Year is under way and all her students have recovered from vacation exposure. They gather Monday nights for creative art work, under the sponsorship of the Carmel Fault School, and teacher, pupils, and model have worked out a triangular harmony which ripples along through a lively evening of work, and discussion, all carried on in a room filled with wondrous treasures, a cashmere shawl from India flows over a chest, a seventeenth century Mexican idol leers eternally from a table top, a primitively painted Mexican chest colors a corner, and a tiny bronze horse dated 2,000 B. C. shows how exquisitely bronze can be modeled. And of course, all about the room are the paintings by Miss Shore herself, constantly shifted, changed, and constantly inspiring.

Nesbitt Engaged

Phil Nesbitt writes from San Francisco that he has become engaged to Miss Helen Rowland, the sculptress, daughter of Architect John Rowland and Marie Field Rowland, the writer. "She is a fine and highly talented girl of 27 years," writes Mr. Nesbitt, artist and Carmel resident of many years. "We plan to get married quite soon. When I eventually bring her to live in Carmel, she will be an addition to the mood of artistic cultivation which is Carmel's."

Africa Bound

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Townsend, who recently sold their property in Carmel Woods, have arrived in Capetown, Africa, after catching the plane in New York, January 3. Mr. Townsend travels about doing expert consulting work for the fishing industries; his arrival here in Carmel was from Lima, Peru. The Townsends' daughter, Lorene, is a senior at Carmel High School and will remain here until she graduates with her class, when she will join her family in Africa. She now makes her home with Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Boice of the Carmel Highlands. Also on the Africa bound plane with the Townsends were Mr. Brayton Wilbur of the Wilbur Ellis Exporting Company, and former chairman of the Chamber of Commerce in San Francisco, and his twelve year old son; they are planning an exploring expedition out of Capetown.

Powell-Barbour Engagement

The engagement of Betty Powell to Robert Barbour was announced at a tea held at the A-to-Zed Club on the University campus at Berkeley Monday afternoon. Mrs. William D. Powell of Carmel and Mrs. J. Irwin Barbour of The Point, the mothers of the two young people, went to Berkeley for the occasion. The bride-elect, who is a daughter of the late Brigadier General William D. Powell, is a senior student majoring in physiology, and her fiancé is a pre-law student since his separation from the Marine Corps. Date for the wedding has not yet been named.

Study Club Meets

The All Saints' Church held a meeting Tuesday, January 13th, of its Study Club at White Cedars at 2:00 p. m. Miss Alice McClure is President of the group, and Mrs. R. Ellis Roberts was in charge of the Tuesday Lesson.

Joins Student

Miss Eleanor Davis, Camino Real, Carmel, is a member of the newly formed Student Speakers Bureau at Western College for Women at Oxford, Ohio. Miss Davis has prepared a book review on Thomas Wolfe's Look Homeward, Angel. The Bureau supplies student speakers to clubs and organizations in Oxford and nearby communities.

Gallery Gathering

The Carmel Art Gallery Association held its quarterly meeting Wednesday night, January 14, for the active membership of the gallery and the members' wives and husbands. The meeting was a social-business affair and mainly for the purpose of discussing policies and giving the members a chance to express their opinions on how the gallery should be run for the coming year.

Miss Paul Back

Miss Etta Paul has returned to her home on The Point after a six months' trip east. She was called to the bedside of her brother, Clem Paul of Bushnell, Illinois, and remained there until after his death in November. While in the east she had an extended visit with Dr. and Mrs. Leigh Mudge who spent last winter in Carmel.

Miss Paul reports that Pauline Mudge, who took the lead in The Male Animal at the Golden Bough Playhouse last winter, is now living in Nashville, Tennessee. Miss Mudge is connected with the Methodist Board of Education, writing scripts for the visual and auditory department designed for youth groups. J. Arthur Rank, the British producer, has recently arranged to film twenty of these and Miss Mudge will be required to work with the director in selecting casts.

New Citizen

A new citizen arrived in Robles del Rio, January 6, in the person of Mary Ellen Dutton, born to Mr. and Mrs. Orrville Dutton. The baby put in her first appearance at the Peninsula Community Hospital.

Bridge Tea

The Hatton Fields home of Mrs. George Fortier will be the setting for the Carmel Mission Altar Society Bridge Tea on January 29, Thursday at 2:00 o'clock. Reservations may be made through Miss Blanche O'Neill 2119-W, or Mrs. J. McCluskey 858-M.

Children's Birthday Party

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Adams on Torres and 8th was the scene, Tuesday, of a birthday party for their nine year old daughter, Ina. Patty Petty, Sharon Nielsen, Beverly Prior, Geraldine Haweswood, Theresa Dornmond, Carol Goodrich, and Carol Gien, gathered after school to enjoy ice cream and birthday cake, and to wish Ina a happy birthday.

Silliman Addresses League

Both sections of the Carmel branch of the League of Women Voters met Friday afternoon, January 9, at the residence of Mrs. L. O. Kellogg, with Mrs. Frances Ballard as chairman. The speaker was Assemblyman James F. Silliman, representative of the Peninsula district.

The groups had been studying legislative procedure and consequently were well primed with questions for the man who had been taking part in such things. Most of his time was spent in answering questions.

Mr. Silliman paid tribute to the progressiveness of the present legislature and the lack of partisanship in its work, only one measure out of 4500 having been drawn along party lines. This was in striking contrast, he pointed out, to the procedure in Congress where party lines are strictly drawn. Incidentally of the 4500 bills only about twenty are important, the others being routine or duplications.

Mr. Silliman pointed out what were in his opinion some of the most progressive measures passed by this session, notably the $25 million for backward school districts, and the highway program. This program is destined to give this state first rank in its highway system in ten or twelve years.

Dunham Group Entertains

Mr. Dan Harris, modern painter, is now back in Monterey after spending Monday through Saturday in San Francisco. Journeying north with Mr. Harris was Robert Kelly, puppeteer from Los Angeles, and friend of the Katherine Dunham group, with whom the two artists spent most of their time, being especially entertained at a large party given after one of the recitals. While in San Francisco, they stayed at the apartment of the weaver, Mr. Henning Watterston.

Weaver Visits

Miss Ruth Hilger was up from Big Sur for a shopping trip in San Francisco, to buy wool and materials for her looms which are now in the Big Sur country high in the hills above the Dietchen place. Miss Hilger, who does magnificent weaving, once appeared sensationally at a party with other weaver friends of hers, all wearing brilliant togas made of their woven materials and Greek sandals.

Executive Board

There will be a meeting of the Executive Board of the Woman's Auxiliary, to which all members are invited, at 1:00 p. m. on Wednesday, January 21, in the Parish House at All Saints' Church, Monte Verde, south of Ocean. The monthly sewing meeting will follow at 2:00 p. m.

East Versus West

A note from Katie Martin Ruster sounds as homesick as any Carmelite could be or inevitably and eventually would have to be. Californians especially Carmelites just can't seem to stick that Eastern climate, and a photo Mrs. Ruster sent, of her house banked and roofed in snow, shows us why. Why not pay your old friends a visit, Katie, and bring along Heide, that wonderful new baby.

Wayfarer Weddings

Among the weddings at the Church of the Wayfarer this week were:

Ruth E. Gatensbury of Piedmont and Frank E. Kulsea of San Francisco, married Sunday afternoon, and attended by Marilyn V. Paris and James P. Peterson. Margaret Sherman Lea was at the organ.

Jane Thompson and John J. Beerli of Burlingame, married Sunday afternoon, attended by Miss Loreto Candy of the Dixon Realty office in Carmel, and Kenneth Bauer of Burlingame.

Member of the Fresno Police Force, James W. Davis married to Angelina P. Pellino, Saturday, January 10.

Officials of Contra Costa County were the principal guests at the wedding of Glenn S. Marsh, member of the Sheriff's staff, and Miss Faye Wheat of Oakland, on Friday, January 2.

Dr. K. Fillmore Gray officiated at all the ceremonies.

Women Voters

The next meeting of Group One of the League of Women Voters will be held at the home of Mrs. Stanley Wescott on Carpenter Street, South of Ocean Avenue, Wednesday, January 21, at 2 p.m.

P. J. Dougherty

Philip John Dougherty, 67, died last Saturday evening in a local hospital, after succumbing to a heart attack a few minutes after dining with his family. He was a native of San Juan Bautista and came to Monterey in 1910 where he was in the feed and fuel business until 1930. He was mayor of Monterey from 1919 to 1923 and chairman of the board of freeholders who drew up the Monterey city charter in 1925. He was postmaster at Monterey from 1933 to 1947 and was a leader of the local Democratic Party organization and member of many fraternal organizations. In 1941 he established the Casa Munras. At the time of his death he was a director of the Bank of Carmel and vice president of the First National Bank of Monterey.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Francine Dougherty, and a son, Jack Dougherty, both of Monterey; by a daughter, Sister Mary St. Agnes of Maryknoll, New York; a sister, Sister Mary Agnes of St. Louis, Missouri; two brothers, Aloysius Dougherty of Monterey and Paul Dougherty of San Luis Obispo.

Rosary was said at 8 p.m. Tuesday and Requiem Mass was celebrated at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday in the San Carlos Church, following rites in the T. A. Dorney Chapel. Burial took place in the Monterey Catholic Cemetery.

NAVY HOUSING

The Naval General Line School at Del Monte has taken into consideration the housing shortage on the Peninsula to the extent of arranging to house 150 officers and their dependents in one wing of the former Del Monte Hotel, until adequate building can be arranged. A special officers and dependents mess will be inaugurated since no kitchen facilities are available for these 150 families.

Mrs. H. J. Powers, chairman of the Carmel Women's Club, Book Section, announces a meeting at the Girl Scout House, at 2:00 p.m., Monday January 19, to hear Barbara Corrigan speak on "Ups and Downs As A Writer." Miss Corrigan lives in Robles Del Rio and publishes short stories in Collier's and the Saturday Evening Post.

LOOK WHO'S TALKING

The Sunday supplement of the Denver Post, the Rocky Mountain Empire Magazine, last Sunday had a page devoted to west coast styles and carried the headlines: "California's sparkling spring modes are far cry from state's first style success: copper-riveted pants." That from one time silver studded, jackass ridden Denver!

ORGAN VESPERS

Miss Lucy Valpay will be the soloist for the Organ Vespers at the Church of the Wayfarer on Wednesday from 5:15 until 6:00 p.m. No newcomer in musical circles, Miss Valpay has been the organist at the First Presbyterian Church in Monterey for some time. The public is invited to these Organ Vespers at which there is no sermon or offering.

SENTENCE ON CARTER DOG

Harold O. Laughery, Monterey County Health Department sanitarian, issued instruction that Elaine T. Carter's police dog should be constrained by the SPCA for 21 days and then destroyed, as a result of reports that several people had been bitten. The two children recently injured by the dog are Ina Adams of Torres and 8th, and Carol Goodrich of Junipero and 7th.

SMASHUP STILL MYSTERY

The badly battered sedan across the street from the Carmel Police Station belongs to W. R. Miller of Marina, who claims that it was being driven by a woman to whom he had loaned it when it smashed into a tree at Ocean Avenue near Scenic Drive at 10 p.m. last Saturday. The police are holding the car until they can find out something about the person supposed to have been at the wheel during the accident. No injury has been reported, and Carmel residents will be relieved to hear that the tree was only slightly damaged.

Paul Williamson

Paul B. Williamson, member of the Carmel Art Association and director of the American Artists' Professional League, died suddenly last Sunday in Marin County while attending a meeting of the Western Art Academy. He has exhibited in the Carmel Art Gallery frequently and some of his work was on display in Monterey last November during Art Week. Oliver's Art Shop has recently been showing some of his work.

Mr. Williamson is survived by a sister, Mrs. Olga Brandeis of New York, who flew west in order to attend the funeral service at San Rafael.

SUNSET SCHOOL NOTES

Mrs. Ann Uzzell, Fifth Grade

When school opened on January 5, twelve new children enrolled at Sunset. There were seven girls and five boys. The names of the new children are: Billy Beard from Chicago, fourth grade; Sidney Frervett from San Francisco, fourth grade; Bruce McCrea from Honolulu, sixth grade; George Larson from Carmel Valley, fifth grade; Linda Huffman from Sacramento, second grade; Lacey Williams from Bay School, second grade; Barbara Benson from Los Angeles, first grade; Sandra Heiden from Chicago, first grade; John Scott, traveler, first time in school, third grade; Nickie Nielson from Millbrae, California, kindergarten; Georgean Spencer from Aptos, sixth grade; and Susan Frervett from San Francisco, second grade. Sunset welcomes these students.

Sunset has a large number of students this year, 388 in all. An average class has 24 students. The largest class has 33 and the smallest class has 19. Sunset is proud of its Student Body.

—Diane Tootelian.

In January all the children should purchase new bicycle license for 1948. Officers Andy Del Monte, Verdine Herdine and Woffard Dufur have been busy this week issuing new licenses to the students. 86 licenses have been issued. The license cost 25 cents each.

—Georgiana Rawlings.

When I got up Christmas morning, I saw a big basket with a red bow tied to the top. I ran over to it and there was the cutest little Cocker Spaniel puppy. She has little blue eyes, curly ears, and a small tail that wouldn't stop wagging.

ing. Her mother was named Copper Queen so we called her Copper Princess. She is six weeks old. This morning she was eating some flowers, so mother ran out of the house to get her away, but she ran between mother's legs and tore a pair of stockings. Now she has calmed down a bit, and doesn't eat flowers very much.

—Craig Chapman.

Diane Tootelian came to Sunset in October. She was born in Fresno, and has lived in Kansas City and Washington, D.C. She has toured all the United States. At present her father is attending the Army Language School studying the Turkish language. The family plan to leave for Turkey this summer.

—Karen Johnson.

Mrs. Myra Mylar is the school sponsor for Savings Stamps. Her class helps her. There is a salesman for each room who counts and collects the money. Other children are cashiers for the different kinds of money. So far the school has taken in $600.00. Kindergarten through the seventh grade can buy Savings Stamps every Wednesday. Three people have bought $25 bonds. About 42% of the Student Body buy stamps every week.

—Patricia Doolittle.

During the Christmas vacation a new unicorn was placed on the girl's playfield for the boys in the third grade and the girls in the fifth, sixth, and seventh grades to use when they practice basketball. A unicorn is a standard with a bucket sort of basket at the top. The children are very happy with the new unicorn.

A new four division drinking fountain will soon be placed on the field, too. This will be a big improvement on warm days.

—Connie Nielsen.

The fourth and fifth grades have formed a basketball league of three teams. The Huskies with Mike Mosolf as captain, the Hot Rods with Merle Pitman as captain and the Bears with Paul Frattessa as captain. The games are played every Monday and Wednesday after school. The first game was won by the Bears. The score was 17 to 12. Mr. Rogers, the sponsor, has promised to take the winning team to Gilroy on February 7 to see Carmel high and Gilroy play. I'm sure the winning team will enjoy it very much.

—Jimmy Hallett.

BIG SUR BABY

Joining the growing group of Big Sur babies was Catherine Anne Currence, born January 10 at the Peninsula Community Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. John Currence of Big Sur, California.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone Press, just phone Carmel 1.

School Board Drops $100,000 Club House From Building Schedule

Bids are also asked for the two houses the school acquired when they bought the north school site; they will have to be moved off the property to make room for the school.

The state highway department has agreed to install a blinker light over the intersection of Ocean Avenue and Highway No. 1 in front of the high school if the school board will pay for the electricity to run it. There is also an indication that that portion of the highway may be widened into a four lane boulevard, since property owners in the area have been approached by a purchasing agent for the highway department.

Free Trees For All; Please Ask, Fred Godwin Urges

(Continued from Page One) cause, the result is unfortunate. With building going on so briskly, people clearing lots all over town, felling the trees, there will shortly be a time when there will be very few trees left except those on the city streets. The loss of 80 at this time is a matter to worry the mayor, and everyone else in the community who cares about the beauty of Carmel. The solution is for the city to replant trees thickly and as fast as possible.

"But it's no use planting trees where the property owners do not want them," says the mayor. "They back their cars into them—find other ways of injuring them. But there must be plenty of people who do want trees and will leave them alone and give them a chance to grow."

He asked the Pine Cone to urge the people who are willing to have trees planted on city property in front of their homes to get in touch with any of the above named city officials. "We'll even plant the trees over the property line in their yards if they want them and it's a good place for trees," the mayor says. He adds, "It's a very serious situation."

LIMEKILN CREEK FIRE

The U. S. Forestry Service fire crew was dispatched January 13 to a fire at Limekiln Canyon, 30 miles south of the Big Sur. The precipitous slopes of the three forks of the Limekiln Creek were burned, about 500 acres in all, before 18 forest officers (15 of them called from Santa Barbara) and 100 soldiers from Fort Ord were able to get control late yesterday. Low humidity and a 40-mile wind added to the difficulties of the firefighters. It has not been determined how the fire was started.

Isabel Chase

Mrs. Isabel Chase, 74, who has been making her home in Robles del Rio for the past four years, died Saturday while on a trip to Bakersfield with her family. She is survived by six children. Those at present living in Robles del Rio are Mrs. Isabel Pierce, Miss Sara Chase, Mrs. Stanley Taylor and Paul Chase. Her daughter, Mrs. Frank J. Nichols of Lorain, Ohio, flew west with her two children to be with the family. Funeral service will be held in Rochester, New York, early next week.

NEVERS ADDRESSES LIONS

Ernie Nevers, Stanford football star of 1925-26, as the guest of California Alumnus Al Fry, at the Lions Club dinner meeting at the Mission Ranch last Tuesday, told the Lions that nobody need be afraid of the Stanford Football Varsity for several years to come. He doesn't expect to see any "Vow Boys" or their like for some time. Nevers played in the Bing Crosby Tournament over the week end and said the Monterey Peninsula is the only place he knows where you can tee off with the seals barking at you and hole out with quail running out from under your feet. He had fun.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Ty's Cow Goes to College

When Ty Martin went to college under the G.I. Bill of Rights, he took one of his Dad's Holsteins and enrolled it in the college herd.

Nobody thought it was odd for Ty to bring a cow to college, because that's what a lot of the boys are doing—not only cows, but chickens, sows, and ewes...for the student-operated farm.

That way the boys pay part of their expenses. They share in both the products and the profits; allocate the work; make their own schedules and rules. They're learning not only how to be good farmers but good citizens to boot. And they're learning industry and moderation—next to milk it seems to me that their favorite beverage is wholesome, temperate beer.

From where I sit, the more education is linked with practical problems of working and getting on together—and practical habits of industry and temperance—the closer we are to its true purpose.
